

EVERY potential buyer of goods from Coleman Stores reads The Journal, and enjoys it.

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

PUBLISHED IN THE PREMIER COAL MINING CENTRE OF THE CROW'S NEST PASS

The Most Effective Advertising Medium for reaching the People of Town and District. The Journal goes into the Homes

IMPORTANT!
Buy typewriter ribbons and copying paper at The Journal office. Blank counter check books or printed to your order, may also be obtained.

VOLUME 14, No. 8.

COLEMAN, ALBERTA THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1935.

$2.00 PER YEAR; SINGLE COPY 5¢

School Sports Will Mark May 24 Holiday

MAY 24 is a Canadian national holiday in honor of the accession to the British Crown of Queen Victoria, often referred to as "Victoria the Good." For 63 years she reigned as the Queen of Great Britain and the Dominions and Empress of India. Her reign was marked by a remarkable era of progress and development of the British Empire and when she died in 1901 her funeral was attended by representatives of all governments of the world.

In garrison towns throughout the Empire royal salutes are fired by artillery batteries and the Royal Standard is hoisted

VICTORIA DAY

"Make It a Clean Town" Is Slogan of Home Owners

Clean Surroundings Reflect Creditably and Give Air of Pride to Town

"Familiarity breeds contempt." This might well be said in connection with some of the unsightly spots in every town. People see them so often they fail to realize the effect they have on strangers.

Ash piles and debris accumulate during the winter. Now is the time to make a thorough clean-up and remove the rubbish. Every home-owner with a sense of pride will do it without urging. Others will undoubtedly follow their example. "Clean up NOW" should be the general slogan.

Concert by Coleman School Children

In the Community hall on Wednesday evening a recital was given by the public school children to demonstrate the progress made under the instruction of Mr. Moffatt, instructor of the Passe schools.

Nine classes in all sang from the youngest grade up to Grade VIII. and it was very pleasing to hear them. They kept splendid time and sang very sweetly. One felt they had received benefit from the instruction, and the program was enjoyed.

Mr. Arthur Reid as chairman remarked that he expected there would have been a larger attendance of parents as the board would like them to know how the children had progressed. Mr. Moffatt also made a few remarks on the singing classes. The closing number, in which the treble and alto voices blended very pleasantly, was by Grade VIII. pupils.

Town Council Doings

At a meeting of the town council held on May 14 Deputy Minister of Public Works Keith of Edmonton in a letter to the council stated his department would not contribute towards the cost of the highway improvement on Main street, as they have given $5,000 towards this several years ago, when it was gravelled.

A petition from residents on east Main street for extension of the surfacing of roadway past their properties was filed. It is reported the council will consider first the building of sidewalks in various places. Road surfacing will be continued probably next year.

Accounts for about $500, mostly for relief, were passed.

ORANGE LODGE MEMBERS CELEBRATE 11th ANNIVERSARY IN COLEMAN

School Sports Friday at 10.30

FRIDAY MORNING at 10.30 a program of sports for school children will be held at the sports ground. It was to have been held on May 6, but wet weather prevented it. In charge of the program are J. H. Naylor, Peter Smith and Wilfrid Dutil. It is anticipated the program will be concluded by noon, so that those wishing to go Bellevue Sports may be free.

FUNERAL OF ALBERT BOWLING COLEMAN FOOTBALLERS TARDY ATTENDED BY ELKS' LODGE IN ORGANIZING THIS YEAR AND LEGION

The funeral of Albert George Bowling, 43 years, who died in Fernie hospital on May 16, was held at St. Paul's United church, conducted by Rev. Roy Taylor. The Elks' Lodge, of which he was an officer, attended in a body and held their service at the graveside. Members of the Canadian Legion also attended the service.

Deceased, who with his wife and daughter came to Coleman in 1927, was known throughout the Pass towns as travelling salesmen for Scott Fruit Co. He was very energetic, and his passing caused keen regret and evoked widespread expressions of sympathy to Mrs. Bowling and young daughter.

His birthplace was in England, and coming to Ontario as a child, he spent his boyhood years with an uncle. He came west about 25 years ago, and lived in Edmonton for some time, enlisting in the C.E.F. during the war, leaving there in 1917 and continuing in service to the end of the war.

In 1923 he was married in Edmonton to Miss Alice McConnell, and there is one daughter, Muriel Alice, 11 years. His surviving relatives are two sisters and a brother living in England and a sister and a brother in Canada. His parents died when he was young.

He was active in sports and very popular with a wide circle of acquaintances. Ten days before his death he had moved to Fernie and Mrs. Bowling and daughter were to follow as soon as arrangements had been completed for living there, but pneumonia developed which caused death early last Thursday morning, May 16.

Many beautiful floral tributes from organizations and friends bore evidence to the widespread sympathy of the community.

Pall-bearers at the funeral were George Brown, D. Webster, Frank Barrington, J. M. Bushton, M. Stegler and Robert Bell. The graveside ceremony was conducted by J. R. McLeod, immediate past exalted ruler of Blairmore Lodge, B.P.O.E., acting as chaplain.

Mrs. J. A. McGregor and son came from Calgary on Friday to remain with Mrs. Albert G. Bowling for a few days, following the death of the latter's husband. They left on Monday and were accompanied to Calgary by Mrs. Bowling and daughter, who will go on to Edmonton to stay with a brother there.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH Services on May 26, morning service, Mr. J. Shevels of Bellevue will be in charge.

"As Husbands Go" Wed., Thurs., May 29 and 30. Double Program "The Party's Over" and "Circus Queen Murder"

Premier Welcomed Home

Canadian Legion Sends $145 to Cancer Fund

Support of McGillivray Fire Bosses, Miners and Pub-lic Acknowledged

In addition to individual subscriptions sent in by Coleman people to the Jubilee Cancer Fund, and $54.50 from the anniversary celebration on May 6, the Canadian Legion as a result of its dance in the Community hall is forwarding $145.00 to Ottawa.

Substantial help was given by the McGillivray fire bosses going among the mine workers for subscriptions, practically every man contributing 50¢ or more towards the appeal. $107.00 was realized from this source, and $103.00 from the townspeople and admissions to the dance, making a total income of $210.00. Against this the expenses were as follows:

"MUSSOLINI SPEAKS"

This is the title of a moving picture to be shown at the Natal theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, May 28-29, at 8 and 10 p. m. Mr. Sorrentino invites Coleman people to attend. A special matinee on Wednesday at 11 a. m.

Many Coleman football fans motored to Michel on Sunday to witness the game between Kimberley and Michel, the game being won by the former team by a 2-1 score.

(Continued on Page 5)

RIGHT in your home town are household marketing facilities Second to None in the Pass. Save on your weekly budget.

Ed. Lediéu
Quality Groceries Phone 232 "The Big Corner Store" Fresh and Smoked Meats Phone 232

Specials--Good only for May 23, 25 and 27

B. C. GRANULATED SUGAR--20 pound Paper Bags $1.25
(Limited Quantity, only one bag to a customer)

Braid's Blue Label Tea, 2 lbs.	85c	Roger's Golden Syrup, 5 lb. tins	45c
Purity Quick Oats, (non-premium) per packet	19c	Shredded Coconut, bulk, per lb.	20c
Salt, 1½ pound Square Packages, 4 for	25c	White Naphtha Soap, Paramount,	35c
Santo's Coffee, bulk, whole or ground, per pound	28c	10 cakes for	35c
		Red Arrow Dollar Sodas,	35c
		per case	Macaroni and Spaghetti, 10 lbs.
			75c

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables in season at Reasonable Prices

Sunkist Oranges Different sizes at different prices per doz. 25c, 30c, 40c, 50c, 60c

Bananas, per pound	10c	Head Lettuce, medium size heads, 2 for	25c
Rhubarb, 5 pounds for	25c	Celery, California, per pound	15c
Tomatoes, Mexican Field, per lb.	15c	Fresh Strawberries, per basket	20c
Tomatoes, Hot House, per lb.	25c	New Potatoes, 2 pounds for	25c
Cucumbers, Extra Large, each	25c	Cauliflower, per pound	20c
		And many others lines for week-end

Meal Specials--Saturday Only

Swift's Pure Pork Sausage, per pound	20c	Pork Shoulder Roast, per lb.	18c
Pot Roast Veal and Beef, per lb.	12c	Pork Leg Roast, per lb.	22c
		Pork Loin Roast, per lb.	26c

SAVE YOUR COUPONS! - SAVE YOUR COUPONS!

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Glyn Bowden of the Brantford Expositor was chosen president of the Ontario-Quebec Newspaper Circulation Managers' Association after a two-day conference.

Overwhelming support was voted for the League of Nations by the postal ballot conducted in Britain. It was announced that of a total of 8,000,703 votes, 7,773,690 were in favor of the league.

Bessborough, British Columbia—named for the governor-general—is the newest post office address in Canada. It is located in section 2, township 79, electoral district of Cariboo, B.C.

London buses, subways and street cars carried 46,000,000 passengers in the first four days of the week, opening the royal jubilee celebrations, easily beating any previous records.

Treasures once the property of the Russian Imperial family and valued at $50,000 were reported stolen from Russian Imperial Art Treasures, Inc., Rockefeller Centre by an unmasked gunman.

Martin Mooney, reporter for the New York American, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and fined $250 for contempt of court in refusing to tell a grand jury where he obtained information for a series of newspaper articles on the police racket.

Londoners blinked in surprise at the sight of snow falling in the British capital in the middle of May. The unseasonable snowfall was accompanied by a cold wave which changed to a chilling 42 degrees the balmy springlike weather that had been marked by a temperature of 77 on May 6, when the royal jubilee was officially opened.

City of Calgary aldermen will be granted remuneration for their services, starting December 1, 1935. They will be paid at the rate of $50 per day for attendance at standing committees, to a maximum of $250 a year. The "vote for pay" was nine to four. The electorate since 1912 has defeated six plebiscites to pay aldermen.

Advances New Theory

Fruit Expert Thinks Eve's Apple May Have Been Peach

It now appears that Eve's "apple," which started the world's first family trouble, was a peach. Such was the theory advanced by Lloyd C. Stark, nurseryman, of Louisville, Mo., and authority on fruit origins.

"In ancient days," said the nurseryman, "the Chinese believed eating a certain kind of peach would bring immortality and preserve the body from corruption. The peach tree was the 'Tree of Knowledge' to the Chinese, and it may have been that the apple, eaten by Eve in the Garden of Eden, after all was the Persian apple, or, as it is known today, a peach."

The Fireproof Fireman

Special Asbestos Suit For Brigade In Sheffield, England

The fireproof fireman has arrived. The Fire Brigade of Sheffield, England, has just taken delivery of a special asbestos suit, which will enable the fireman-wearer to walk with impunity in the fiercest flames. He will be able to effect rescue and salvage work unhampered by the heat.

Sheffield is the pioneer city in adopting the suit, which has been subjected to the most vigorous tests. Fire brigades in other parts of the country have been awaiting the outcome of the experiment with great interest.

Success After Ten Years

Invents Window That Admits Light And Air But Not Noise

A new sound-proof window, which admits light and air, but not noise, has been invented by E. T. Fisk, chairman of Amalgamated Wireless Australia.

The design of the window, which has just undergone successful tests, is the outcome of ten years of acoustical experiments by Fisk. It employs the principle that most sounds can be reflected or absorbed if certain materials are applied to the surfaces which the sounds are striking.

Mistress—"This pie is absolutely burnt, Norah. Did you make it according to the instructions in the Cooking Book?"

Norah—"No, ma'am. It's my own refection."

Migration Of The Canada Goose

By Manly F. Miner

Much ink has been used by various writers and authors describing the origin and history of the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary, but to me the big achievement there has been scarcely mentioned, namely, the catching and tagging of the Canada Geese to determine the route of migration in both spring and fall, and to find where it nests and raises its young during the summer months.

It was in 1902 and 1903 that Jack Miner conceived the idea of establishing a bird sanctuary, the first of its kind in Canada and not on the continent. But not until 1908 was work on the sanctuary actually started, that is, excavations made for ponds, setting wing tipped live decoy geese, placed same, and corn spread plentifully around the decoys. Ducks and geese, in a short time, found that to be a place of safety. Both the conservationists and shooters were back on the Jack Miner scheme because the sanctuary, taking nothing from the shooters, constantly builds up the hunter's chances one mile away, the bird haven attracting many birds to the country.

At the same time the geese became wise enough, when shot at from the property where they were unprotected, to fly back to their safety zone and have rest.

Eventually the birds commenced to congregate on the sanctuary in large numbers. Jack Miner had no desire to shoot, but was anxious to study and find out where these animals came from. On August 5th, 1909, he caught a duck and wrapped around its leg a piece of aluminum, which was stamped his post office address. This was the first time Jack Miner had done such a thing, and incidentally, the record of same is the earliest on this continent. Thus not only is Jack Miner's sanctuary the first of its kind in North America, but also the pioneer of trapping ducks.

A few months later, January 19th, 1910, the duck which had the honor of being the first to be tagged was killed by W. E. Bray, of Anchorage, Alaska.

Naturally, great enthusiasm was caused, and the problem then confronting the owner of the sanctuary was how to build nets and other contrivances to catch the ducks without injuring them in order that they might be tagged. He had no books or plans to which he could refer, for there was nothing of this kind in existence. After attracting the birds to the sanctuary, he turned to the lot of Jack Miner to invent a contrivance for catching the ducks. This he accomplished after many trials and work, the result being that to-day there are still hundreds of ducks flying to and fro across the continent with their tag.

Nearly every mail brings reports to the sanctuary from hunters of North America of the killing of tagged birds.

By 1914 Jack Miner had learned where the ducks, mourning doves, robins, etc., were in the early part of the year, and all the birds had hatched across the continent with their tag.

He next embarked on the task of catch and tag Canada Geese. The wildest of wild birds are practically the largest migratory waterfall on the continent. He soon found that the catching Canada Geese was an undertaking compared with catching ducks. Although the geese, at this time, were coming to his sanctuary for the hundreds of food traps he had set out, he had to catch them by shooting, when no poor poer could enter with a gun, to catch one of these birds for tagging purposes was another thing. They would not go near the network he had set out for catching ducks. So after a year's constant study he evolved a method of having two ponds with a canal connecting them covered with a network and a trap door at the end of the canal, so that he caught his first wild Canada Goose to place an aluminum tag on its leg, giving the post office address of the owner of the sanctuary.

Jack Miner, however, means a religious fanatic, but he believes in the simple teachings of Christ and being anxious to make his tagging system complete and fascinating, a short time ago he made a figure of "He that faith in God." God is able, and so far, is stamped on one side of his tag. In this way every person who gets one of his tagged birds gets a picture of sculpture, which has more than doubled the interest of his tagging.

In the spring of 1915 and just before the geese migrated for parts unknown to the north, he caught and tagged his first Canada Goose and liberated it again with the big flock from which it had been taken. Interest was aroused in the community as well as in the north and south. No one had even caught a gosling before they nested. All that was known was that they went north, and the goslings, which had reached the northern point in Labrador, always returned that they went still farther north.

However, weeks and months rolled by and, to the surprise of everyone, early in October of the same year, Jack Miner received a letter from Mr. G. H. Goss, of the Hudson Bay Company, dated August 15th, 1915, containing this tag. The goose had been killed by an Indian in unscripted territory in the Hudson Bay district. This was the first time the whole country, with real enthusiasm Jack Miner began to work on the improvement of his goose trap in order to catch geese by the thousands. The result was a success. Many more geese were trapped and later on in the season, word was received from different points along the east side of Hudson's and James' Bays and as

YOUTHFUL TRAVELLER

-Cunard White Star Photo

Here is two-year-old Willie McMunn, who travelled all the way from Glasgow to Canada by himself on the Anchor-Donaldson liner Athena. Willie arrived at Montreal none the worse for his adventure and seems sorry to say "good-bye" to the Stewards and Stewardesses.

He was photographed at Montreal with his little suitcase just before leaving for Toronto where he will visit his aunt and grandmother who reside on Broadway Avenue, Toronto.

foras to Baffin Land of tagged geese

On one occasion the Rev. W. G. Walton, an Anglican missionary, who had spent between 20 and 30 years among the Indians and Eskimos, and who had never been out to civilization, came by canoe from Hudson's Bay to Cochrane. Taking the train there, he in his canoe arrived in Inuvik, and the geese he had collected on the ice of one of our ponds were still with him.

The geese have tagged nearly 13,000 geese since 1915, and nearly 10,000 of these that are not killed return to this protected property, wearing the bright bands around their legs. Last fall one hundred geese were tagged and stood on the ice of one of our ponds.

The pond is only one acre in size and as I look at the map of North America in my old school geography, from the Great Lakes regions, where they congregate at this sanctuary, during the months of March and April.

The geese have tagged nearly 13,000 geese since 1915, and nearly 10,000 of these that are not killed return to this protected property, wearing the bright bands around their legs. Last fall one hundred geese were tagged and stood on the ice of one of our ponds.

The pond is only one acre in size and as I look at the map of North America in my old school geography, from the Great Lakes regions, where they congregate at this sanctuary, during the months of March and April.

This he accomplished after many trials and work, the result being that to-day there are still hundreds of ducks flying to and fro across the continent with their tag.

Nearly every mail brings reports to the sanctuary from hunters of North America of the killing of tagged birds.

By 1914 Jack Miner had learned where the ducks, mourning doves, robins, etc., were in the early part of the year, and all the birds had hatched across the continent with their tag.

He next embarked on the task of catch and tag Canada Geese. The wildest of wild birds are practically the largest migratory waterfall on the continent. He soon found that the catching Canada Geese was an undertaking compared with catching ducks. Although the geese, at this time, were coming to his sanctuary for the hundreds of food traps he had set out, he had to catch them by shooting, when no poor poer could enter with a gun, to catch one of these birds for tagging purposes was another thing. They would not go near the network he had set out for catching ducks.

So after a year's constant study he evolved a method of having two ponds with a canal connecting them covered with a network and a trap door at the end of the canal, so that he caught his first wild Canada Goose to place an aluminum tag on its leg, giving the post office address of the owner of the sanctuary.

Jack Miner, however, means a religious fanatic, but he believes in the simple teachings of Christ and being anxious to make his tagging system complete and fascinating, a short time ago he made a figure of "He that faith in God." God is able, and so far, is stamped on one side of his tag.

In this way every person who gets one of his tagged birds gets a picture of sculpture, which has more than doubled the interest of his tagging.

However, weeks and months rolled by and, to the surprise of everyone, early in October of the same year, Jack Miner received a letter from Mr. G. H. Goss, of the Hudson Bay Company, dated August 15th, 1915, containing this tag. The goose had been killed by an Indian in unscripted territory in the Hudson Bay district. This was the first time the whole country, with real enthusiasm Jack Miner began to work on the improvement of his goose trap in order to catch geese by the thousands. The result was a success. Many more geese were trapped and later on in the season, word was received from different points along the east side of Hudson's and James' Bays and as

New Offensive Planned

Grasshoppers Killed in Larva Stage Would Protect Farms

A new offensive against grasshoppers that would take attackers to the insects' permanent breeding grounds and prevent the recurring plagues by destroying the insects before they assumed outbreak proportions, was favored in a statement issued at Lethbridge by eminent entomologists of Canada and the United States.

The experts, following a six-day conference, reported the program in future would be to search out isolated areas where grasshoppers breed in years of no general infestation and start the poisoning campaign there.

The conference, outcome of an appointment last year by the Dominion Government of a committee to draw up a scheme of permanent grasshopper control, felt such a plan would make farms safe from grasshopper plagues and farmers would not be occupied, as in the last two summers, scattering poison bait for weeks on end.

Explore Upper Strata

To Build Rocket That Will Ascend Distances Of 34 Miles

A Soviet stratosphere committee ordered the construction of a rocket expected to ascend 50 kilometers (about 31 miles) at a speed of 700 metres a second, or more than twice the speed of sound at a temperature of over 200 degrees centigrade.

The rocket would take up automatic scientific instruments, which after reaching the maximum height would descend by parachutes.

SPECIAL OFFER 10c.

SPRING FASHION BOOK

For the next two weeks the latest Fashion Book (regular 20c) will be sold at 10c when ordered with a pattern.

—See Mail Address Below—

877

DRESS IN SIZES TO 48:

By Ellen Worth

Extremely attractive, slimming and comfortable to wear.

There are so many things about this smart jacket dress which the figure will find helpful and charming.

Its open V-neckline and prettily arranged bodice closing are exceedingly slimming.

White elastic tub silk print was used for it, while the cross-over bodice was plain yellow.

Checked handkerchief linen, eyelet batiste, dotted voile, white lace, lace-trimmed lawn, etc., are other suitable fabrics so cool and smart looking.

Style No. 877 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 28-inch material with 1½ yards of 39-inch contrasting.

Patterns 20c each. Address mail orders to: Pattern Department, Winnipeg News-Paper Union, 175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

The Spring Fashion Magazine is better than ever. Entirely illustrated in color you will find it a very stimulating fashion edition. There are articles for cruising and clothes to brighten up your vacation at home. Many delightful little models for the smaller members of the family. Of course, patterns are obtainable for your copy to-day, the price is 20 cents.

The poisonous part of poison ivy is the milky sap, and the sap retains its poisonous properties even when dry a long time, as on dead twigs.

London received its first successful cargo of meat from Australia in 1880.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE LORD'S SUPPER

Golden text: This do in remembrance of me. I. Corinthians 11:24. Devotional reading: John 6:17-31.

Explanations And Comments
Arrangements for the Passover Feast, Matthew 26:17-19. On the first day of unleavened bread, while the city of Jerusalem was making ready the celebration of the Passover Feast, and the chief priests and elders were planning how they might put Jesus to death, Jesus had dinner prepared for their celebration at the home of a friend, where they would be free from disturbance.

The Institution of the Lord's Supper, Matthew 26:26-28. As they were eating the unleavened bread, especially prepared for the paschal meal, Jesus broke it. "Blessed is he who gives his body for earth," was the customary blessing. As he gave it to his disciples he said, "Take, eat; this is my body." This represents my body. In this manner we say "This is my body."

And he took a cup and said and said as said he gave it to them: "Drink ye all [all] ye of it; for this is my blood of the covenant." The "cup" represents my blood. "Covenant" represents the idea appropriate to the circumstances, when men make wills. The blood of the covenant is the blood with Israel and the blood of the covenant. Ex. 24:8 (A. B. Bruce). Because Paul says in First Corinthians 10:16: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not a communion of the blood of Christ?" the sacrament was called Communion. Comp. Matt. 26:28, where Moses sprinkled blood upon the people and said, "Behold, the blood of the covenant which Jehovah hath made with you"; so here Jesus declares that his blood is poured out to ratify a covenant, a remission of sins.

The graphic present is a picture drawn out for the sacrifice of Jesus, which is the sacrifice of the lamb.

Then Jesus reminded his followers that it was the last time he would partake of the paschal wine with them, "I shall not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine." He told them, "until that day when I drink it new with my Father's Kingdom."

"This statement is not to be taken prosaically. It is the thought of meeting again, brought in to brighten the gloom of leave-taking"

(A. B. Bruce).

Railways Offer Travel Bargain

Week-End Excursions Covering King's Birthday, June 3rd

Winnipeg—Another travel bargain offered by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways will provide week-end excursions with a five-day trip covering the King's birthday, June 3, it was announced by Joseph B. Parker, secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association, western section.

Between all stations on western lines of both railways and on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo to all stations on the Northern Alberta railroads the lowest one-way first class fare and one-quarter is offered for the round trip, with a minimum round-trip fare of fifty cents.

Tickets will be good from Friday, May 31, until 2 p.m. Monday, June 3. The return trip must be started from the destination not later than midnight on June 4, except where no train service is available on the date set.

Children five years of age and under twelve will be carried for one-half the authorized adult fares and children under five years will be carried free when accompanied by an adult, the minimum fare set at twenty-five cents.

Running Close Race

Great Britain Slightly Ahead Of Germany In Wireless Licenses

Great Britain and Germany are running a hot race for the highest number of wireless licenses.

On January 31, according to figures of the International Broadcasting Union, Britain had issued 6,688, 127 licenses to radio fans, while Germany's total was 6,439,323. Soviet Russia was a bad third with 2,322,000, and France fourth with 1,755,946.

The development of broadcasting in other European countries still is comparatively backward, according to the union's figures. Italy's total number of radio fans was estimated at 430,000, Spain's 213,000 and Portugal's only 28,283. Belgium has 39,190, France 366,286 and Sweden 733,190.

Japan takes the lead in eastern countries with a total of 1,887,398 licenses issued.

The poisonous part of poison ivy is the milky sap, and the sap retains its poisonous properties even when dry a long time, as on dead twigs.

London received its first successful cargo of meat from Australia in 1880.

"What do we do now?"

"Well, if the movies are right, miss, you sit on my knee."

—Sydney Bulletin, Sydney, Australia.

2099

TO BE SURE YOU GET Fast Relief

Get 100 of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 300 at any druggist's.

DOES NOT HARM
THE HEART

An Aspirin tablet starts disintegrating as soon as it touches moisture. That means that Aspirin starts "taking effect" in your body almost instantly. And Aspirin is safe. Doctors prescribe it. For Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Be sure to look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Aspirin is made in Canada and all druggists have it.

Demand and Get
ASPIRIN

TRADEMARK REGISTERED IN CANADA

MISS ALADDIN

—By—
Christine Whiting Parmenter
Author Of
"One Wide River To Cross"
"The Unknown Port," Etc.

CHAPTER I.

Dad was worried about something. All through dinner Nancy had been aware of it. Not once had he taken part in the conversation, and though outwardly unchanged (the girl was proud of her well-groomed, youthful-looking father) he seemed, somehow, miles away. When even Jack's spirit accorded of Dexter's victory at the game that afternoon quite failed to rouse him, both aunts glanced up, puzzled; and Mother, saying: "Let me have coffee in the living room," went to her husband and touched his shoulder.

"What's wrong, Jim? Has something happened?"

Dad turned quickly, as if startled at the question.

"Something has," he admitted, pulling himself together with what seemed to all of them a tremendous effort, "and since the little boy's away, it's a good time to tell you. Don't bother with coffee tonight, Margaret. Come into the other room and close the door. I—I must get it over."

But after all, James Nelson did not have to break the news. It was his sister, always quick to grasp a situation, who asked as they gathered in the living room: "Did that crash in the market to-day hit you very hard, Jim?"

Her brother nodded—wet his lips. "I am down and out, Louise," he answered; but Nancy saw that he was looking at her mother. And Mother was looking at him, strangely. She seemed, thought the girl, stunned for just a moment.

"Down and out," James Nelson repeated grimly, still staring at his wife with eyes that had grown haggard. "After all these years the firm's gone under. I think—I fear, Margaret, that we'll have to begin all over again."

"Well," countered Mother, coming suddenly to life, "why not?" She sat down on the dampervent beside Dad, and put an arm across his shoulders. "Tell us, dear, just how bad everything is."

He drew a relieved breath, as if the world were over.

"So no bad as it might be, perhaps. I can't go into details now; but at least, I'm not in debt to others. That's the thought I held onto when I looked at the crowd of desperate men in the stock exchange this afternoon—a terrible scene! Their faces well, I wish I could forget them. I went back to the office to work again."

"Oh, see here!" broke in her father. "I guess we'll manage without that. I think your plan about Edgewise is a good one, Judith, unless it sounds too hard for Margaret. But of course I'd pay the rent like any other tenant."

"Oh, no, you wouldn't!" Aunt Judy retorted with indignation. "It's a pity if I'm not allowed to help after all you and Margaret have done for me. Don't I know that when I came here years ago I'd never have thought of engaging a mother's helper if you hadn't known I was lonely and adored the children?" And later Margaret pretended to need a housekeeper, so I'd feel I wasn't imposing on you to stay longer. Take the old house and use it, Jim. I've always felt it was Margaret's as much as mine. Don't say the word rent to me again!"

She was so obviously wrought up that Dad laughed a little, and Mother said: "Honestly, Judith, since we must go somewhere, it will seem heaven to go back home. But whatever we decide, Louise must do what's best for her. As for Jack, since this term's tuition at school is already paid, he may as well finish, I suppose."

"Wouldn't they give the money back, Dad?" questioned the boy.

and just sat there thinking—trying to see my way. I'm fifty-six. It's not easy to start again at that age. Margaret. This house is yours; but we can afford to live here. What hurts me most is that the hardest part will fall on you, of you, I mean. The servants too; they'll have to go. And—and Nance was to have had her debut so soon!"

"Oh, forget it!" The girl spoke flippantly because she couldn't have spoken otherwise without hurting.

"For my part," observed Jack, "I should think Miss Judy would be relieved to get rid of all that fuss. I'll get a job, Dad. I never was keen on college anyway. I was only going so's not to disappoint you. And I won't need Mary Ann if I go to work. She'll bring in—something."

"Mary Ann" was the boy's beloved rooster. James Nelson's eyes brightened suspiciously as he said: "You're good kids, both of you. I feel better already to have you meet this blow with so much pluck. I knew I could count on Mother; her too young to feel the hurt. As for you two," (turning to his own sister and his wife's), "you're safe, thank heaven! That was my first grain of comfort—relief that I'd put your money into good, dependable bonds."

"For mercy's sake!" broke in Aunt Louise. "Why didn't you tell us sooner? If Judy's savings and mine are still intact, things aren't so bad. Even with that small capital you can start again, Jim."

"If you think I'd touch a penny—" he began, when Aunt Judy interrupted:

"Why shouldn't you? What would I have now, Jim, if you hadn't managed my affairs so carefully all these years? This crash in the market is no fault of yours. Make him see sense, Margaret. Of course he'll take our money if it will help."

Said Mother: "Perhaps he won't need to if we sell this house."

"This is no time to sell real estate," Dad told her, "but I've no doubt we can rent it at a good price. And if we move to a small apartment, or even into the suburbs for a while, so as to cut all possible expenses, it will give me a chance to look around."

"See here!" spoke up Aunt Judy as if inspired, "the place at Edgewise is vacant now. Why not go there and have no rent to pay?"

Judith Hale had inherited the family home at her father's death some fifteen years before; but Edgewise was more than twenty miles from the city, and as no one spoke for just a moment, she questioned: "Could you stand commuting, Louise? It would mean a pretty early start for you."

"I ought to be able to stand it as well as Jim; or I could stay in town and go home for the week-ends. But I'm thinking about Nance. It seems hard to give up a debut and be torn from all one's young friends at the same time."

This was a surprise, not only to Nancy but to her elders. It was seldom that Louise Nelson, who taught English in a fashionable girls' school, displayed sympathy of this sort. She considered the debut a foolish, unnecessary display, and had said so repeatedly. She wanted Nancy to go to college and fit herself to be a teacher. It was amazing that in this time of stress she should give thought to her niece's disappointment, and the girl said:

"Don't worry about me. If I'm not to come out in a blaze of glory, Aunt Louise, I'd almost rather be away somewhere."

"Why, see here!" broke in her father. "I guess we'll manage without that. There's a good one, Judith, unless it sounds too hard for Margaret. But of course I'd pay the rent like any other tenant."

"Oh, no, you wouldn't!" Aunt Judy retorted with indignation. "It's a pity if I'm not allowed to help after all you and Margaret have done for me. Don't I know that when I came here years ago I'd never have thought of engaging a mother's helper if you hadn't known I was lonely and adored the children?" And later Margaret pretended to need a housekeeper, so I'd feel I wasn't imposing on you to stay longer. Take the old house and use it, Jim. I've always felt it was Margaret's as much as mine. Don't say the word rent to me again!"

She was so obviously wrought up that Dad laughed a little, and Mother said: "Honestly, Judith, since we must go somewhere, it will seem heaven to go back home. But whatever we decide, Louise must do what's best for her. As for Jack, since this term's tuition at school is already paid, he may as well finish, I suppose."

"Wouldn't they give the money back, Dad?" questioned the boy.

and smiling lips speak of health & vitality. The healthy girl is both happy and popular.

Perhaps you are not really ill yet when the day's work is done you're too tired to end in the good times that other women enjoy. For extra energy, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It tones up your general health. Gives you more pep—more charm.

Remember that 98 out of 100 women report benefit. Let us help you too.

THE JOURNAL, COLEMAN, ALBERTA.

THE CHORE GIRL
All Copper Pot Cleaner
Safe, efficient, will not rust nor splinter.
Acts like lightning removing burnt-on grease, oil, fat, etc., from Pots and Pans.
Easy to use and let her do your work.
10c.
ALL STORES
Manufactured by Metal Textile Corp. of Can., Ltd.
Hamilton, Ontario

James Nelson glanced at his sister, the inner workings of a poor school being more in her line than his; and she responded: "In a case like this I believe they'd refund most of it; though if Jack wants to finish out the year I'll finance his expenses."

"And relinquish that European trip next summer?" countered her brother.

She colored, as if guilty of some misdeed.

"Oh, what's a European trip when I've been before? I'd hate to have Jack change schools, when he's done so well; and you've set your heart on his going to Harvard, too. Let him stay where he is."

The boy arose, standing with his back to the fire as he looked down at them. During the past year he had grown an appalling number of inches and like others who shoot up with such rapidity, was far too thin. He said, soberly: "With all due respect to you, Aunt Louise, I think I have a right to decide this thing myself. I'd feel like a slacker to stay at an expensive school when Dad has lost his money and Nance is giving up her party. You say I'm doing well in my studies, but it's only because I'm crammed, and I'm sick of cramming. I'm no bright star, and you all know it. It's a shame to disappoint you, Dad, but I'm not going to college—that is," he added, "if I can get myself."

His father answered: "But I wanted you to graduate from my Alma Mater, boy."

"Send Phil then. Phil's smart. He'll be a credit to you, Why, that kid knows more now than I did when I entered Exeter! I'm the dumbest member of the Nelson family, but I bet I can get a job that'll pay my mother wiped away a tear."

In the room above Louise Nelson lay staring at a patch of brightness on the ceiling, waiting in front of a window, far below. She, too, was thinking about Nancy. "If only my daughter had been to something besides a butterfly," she told herself, "this blow wouldn't come so hard. Not that the child hasn't got good courage though. I showed to-night when she kept a stiff upper lip while her house of cards tumbled to pieces before her eyes. That's the pioneer spirit my father used to talk about, showing up in a softer generation. I dare say, But she can't do a thing to help. Not a thing. No training whatever. Not that she'd have had much time for training at her age; but I doubt if the girl has ever made a bed!"

"Old is right," burst irrepressibly from Jack again. "Why, she's a pioneer, isn't she? One of those covered wagon people who—"

"Ehh!" warned his mother; while her sister-in-law, throwing the boy what in the vernacular of his generation is known as "a hard look," continued: "For I, for I find it more difficult to do for myself, and the neighbors feel that I should no longer remain alone at night in this large mansion."

Louise Nelson paused for just a moment as if awaiting her nephew's comment, but as none was forthcoming, she went on: "I had hoped to secure the services of Mary Taylor, the daughter of our good postmaster; but she has other plans, for which, on the whole, I am relieved. Girls are not what they were in my day, but after all, blood will tell, so I am asking your daughter Nancy to start for Colorado as soon as—"

"Well, talk of nerve!"

This was Jack once more, but no one thought to reprove him for the interruption. Even his Aunt Louise appeared unconcerned at it. Dad sat suddenly erect. Mother's mouth opened, and stayed that way a minute. Aunt Judy bristled: "What's the woman thinking of?"—while Nancy herself was staring at them all in blank amazement.

"Me?" she gasped, after a speechless moment.

"The woman thinking of?"—while Nancy herself was staring at them all in blank amazement.

"For her part, she's read on," commanded Jack; and as they all leaned forward in sudden interest Louise Nelson said:

"Let's see, where was I? Oh, here's the place. . . . as soon as possible. Though I know you are well fixed financially, my dear cousin, I shall insist on paying the girl's travelling expenses. I also agree to give her twenty-five dollars every month, and her duties will not be arduous."

believe me. Why don't they go to Europe by themselves?"

"That's what I asked Caroline. Girls go everywhere along these days. But it seems that their grandfather is financing the trip and stipulated that they take a chaperon."

"Chaperon? burst from Nancy. "I didn't know they existed anymore."

"They do," said her sister. "You see one before you now, my dear, unless I'm too late to get the job. Don't look so mournful, Jim. It's a wonderful chance to get a trip abroad."

But her gay tone did not deceive them. Even Jack knew that Aunt Judy didn't want to go abroad with two restless young adolescents like the Spears. Dad said, after a moment:

"What on earth do you want this time of night?" she questioned. "Is the house a-sire?"

Without answering, Jack closed the two windows noiselessly and sat down on the foot of Nancy's bed, drawing his knees up under his chin.

"Sis," he said in a mysterious whisper. "I've got a perfectly corking scheme. Have—have you forgotten Cousin Columbine's proposition?"

for evening wrap! I wish I hadn't saved it for the great event. Maybe the shop will take it back, though I never use it in—Edgemere."

"I could get a job like Jack's," said Louise. "What a good am I?"

"I'm not as good as you are," said Louise. "I can't earn my salt, not to mention my milk stockings."

What the girls say and the boys, when they hear the news? . . . Not that it matters to me. I'd like to help him—but but I'm just useless . . . Can't even earn my board. . . . No one would pay me . . ."

Nancy turned her head. The door was opening cautiously, and she switched on a bedside light the girl saw her brother, clad in pajamas and a bathrobe.

"What on earth do you want this time of night?" she questioned. "Is the house a-sire?"

Without answering, Jack closed the two windows noiselessly and sat down on the foot of Nancy's bed, drawing his knees up under his chin.

"Sis," he said in a mysterious whisper. "I've got a perfectly corking scheme. Have—have you forgotten Cousin Columbine's proposition?"

CHAPTER II.

Cousin Columbine's proposition: Nancy had not given it thought since the week before when Jack had come from school for an unexpected Sunday, had sent the postman at the door and brought a letter into the dining room where the family was at dinner.

"It looks like a long-winded speech from Dad's venerable relative in Colorado," the boy observed. "You left it alone, Aunt Lou."

"I tossed it across the table where it landed within an inch of his aunt's plate. She said, regarding the address: "Well it's for your father."

Dad smiled.

"Read on, my dear. It can't be very private. The old lady hasn't written for a long time. What can she want?"

"To spend her remaining days with us, perhaps," opined Jack fearfully as he sat down and his aunt drew the same faintly written pages from the envelope. "What's she say, Aunt Lou?"

"Give me time to find out, please," she returned with a touch of sarcasm; and then read: "Dear Cousin James: It is some months since any news of my far-distant relatives has reached me, and now I am writing to ask what I will not be regarded as a favor—"

"What's wrong?" broke in Jack. "She wants to live with us! I felt something—something ominous crept down my spine when the postman handed me that letter. Go on, Quick."

Louise Nelson, always impatient at interruptions, paused for an aggravating moment before continuing: "I am a favor. I suppose I am getting old—"

"Old is right," burst irrepressibly from Jack again. "Why, she's a pioneer, isn't she? One of those covered wagon people who—"

"Ehh!" warned his mother; while her sister-in-law, throwing the boy what in the vernacular of his generation is known as "a hard look," continued: ". . . for I find it more difficult to do for myself, and the neighbors feel that I should no longer remain alone at night in this large mansion."

Louise Nelson paused for just a moment as if awaiting her nephew's comment, but as none was forth-coming, she went on: "I had hoped to secure the services of Mary Taylor, the daughter of our good postmaster; but she has other plans, for which, on the whole, I am relieved. Girls are not what they were in my day, but after all, blood will tell, so I am asking your daughter Nancy to start for Colorado as soon as—"

"Well, talk of nerve!"

This was Jack once more, but no one thought to reprove him for the interruption. Even his Aunt Louise appeared unconcerned at it. Dad sat suddenly erect. Mother's mouth opened, and stayed that way a minute. Aunt Judy bristled: "What's the woman thinking of?"—while Nancy herself was staring at them all in blank amazement.

"Me?" she gasped, after a speechless moment.

"The woman thinking of?"—while Nancy herself was staring at them all in blank amazement.

"For her part, she's read on," commanded Jack; and as they all leaned forward in sudden interest Louise Nelson said:

"Let's see, where was I? Oh, here's the place. . . . as soon as possible. Though I know you are well fixed financially, my dear cousin, I shall insist on paying the girl's travelling expenses. I also agree to give her twenty-five dollars every month, and her duties will not be arduous."

BEFORE BUYING
Any TIRE

SEE THE

New Firestone

HIGH Speed TIRE

WITH 50%
MORE
NON-SKID
MILEAGE.

Firestone Tires have always been noted for their long, low cost mileage.

Now, in the New High

Speed Tire for 1935, you get 50% more Non-skid mileage—at no extra cost!

Put these—the last word in tires on your car—

see the nearest

Firestone Dealer

today.

FIRESTONE
SENTINEL
TIRES
AS LOW AS
$5.25

*Compared with previous Firestone tire.

BUILT IN Advance
OF TODAY'S NEEDS

"As I believe I have mentioned in previous communications, my good neighbor, Aurora Tubbs, does my cooking and house cleaning, though on the latter subject her ideas and my own not infrequently clash. I should expect your daughter to dust the mansion neatly every morning; do her own washing."

At this point, unable to restrain himself a moment longer, Jack gave vent to a sort of war whoop; and his aunt declared in exasperation: "Really, Jack, if you can't keep still until I finish, some one else may have the pleasure of reading this ridiculous proposal."

"Oh, go on, Louise," placated Dad. "What else does she expect of Nance for that munificent salary?"

"Strict obedience, I judge. The letter says: 'If she goes out of an evening I should expect her to be in not later than nine-thirty, my bed-time; and though I prefer that she should entertain no young men callers, if such a thing occurs they must leave at the same hour.'

Aunt Louise paused, amused eyes meeting Nancy's as Jack chuckled: "No boy friends for our Nance?" That settles the matter, Dad. Just wire your antiquated cousin that your charming daughter doesn't qualify for the position."

"Keep still," begged Nancy. "I never heard anything so—so wild in my whole life!"

Louise Nelson was smiling now. "You are to read the daily paper to Cousin Columbine," she said.

"And listen to this: If handy with her needle I should want the girl to do a bit of dressmaking now and then. She would get supper on Thursdays (Aurora's evening off), and in case of illness on my part it might be necessary for her to wait upon me. That is all, I think—And it's enough," declared Aunt Louise, interrupting herself this time. "I judge they haven't met the servant problem at Pine Ridge, Colorado!"

"What she wants is a slave," asserted Jack. "I can't quite see my decorative sister being nurse, dressmaker and cook to a prehistoric old lady one hundred-odd years old. Can you, Dad?"

(To Be Continued)

"WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT SASKASAL"

Says Regan Women

Indigestion Gone, Can Eat Anything

Read this letter: "For several years I had been troubled with indigestion and could eat very few foods which agreed with me. I tried a variety of cures suggested that I try Saskasal, which I did, and it had entirely cured me and I am now eating all kinds of food. I would not be without it. I hope others may benefit as I have done when they know of your wonderful product in Canada."

Saskasal is Natural Vegetable Balsam. Its alkaline action neutralizes over-acidity in the blood and thus it is a valuable remedy in all cases of Constipation, Rheumatism, Liver, Kidney troubles, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc.

At All Drug Stores—69c

DIRECTORY

BUY from those firms whose cards appear under this heading. They are loyal supporters of Coleman institutions and merit your business.

LITERATIONS
and Repairs—Ask for Pamphlet with Suggestions
J. S. D'APPOLONIA

CABINET CIGAR STORE
and BARBER SHOP
also BEAUTY PARLOR
First-Class Service
Frank G. Graham, Prop.

GRAND UNION HOTEL
Fully Modern. Reasonable Rates. Week or Month.
W. Bell, Prop. Phone 220

INSURANCE
FIRE, LIFE ACCIDENT, AUTOMOBILE
A.M. Morrison Phone 21

JEWELRY
WATCH REPAIRS
Registered Optometrist
Issuer of Marriage Licences
G.R. POWELL Main Street

PRINTING and OFFICE SUPPLIES
PHONE 209

DENTISTRY
R. L. Lillie, D.D.S., (Graduate, N. U. D. S., Chicago)
HOURS:

Coleman—Morning, 9 to 12.
Blairmore—Afternoon, 1 to 6.
Evenings by Appointment

PHONES:

Both Offices 33x2. Residence 33x3

SUMMIT LODGE

No. 30, A. F. & A.M.
Regular meetings held first Thursday of each month, at 8 p.m.
Visiting Brethren cordially invited.

A. J. Brown W.M.
Maurice W. Cooke, Secretary.

R. F. BARNES

BARRISTER AND SOLICITOR

Phone 305 Coleman, Alberta

Residence Phone 240B

Choice Cut Flowers for EVERY Occasion

Frank Graham Post Office or Phone 81 w

BARGAIN FARES
to
EASTERN CANADA
May 17 to 30

Choice of Travel in COACHES • TOURIST or STANDARD SLEEPERS
Fare slightly higher for Tourist or Standard Sleepers in addition to usual berth charges

Tickets at First Class rate will be honored on Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamers (within limit) on payment meals and berth charge.

RETURN LIMIT 30 DAYS in addition to date of sale

For Fares, Train Service, etc.
Apply Ticket Agents

CANADIAN PACIFIC

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL
Published every Thursday at COLEMAN, ALBERTA.

H. T. Halliwell, Proprietor.

Membership in Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and Alberta Press Association.

Subscription $2.00 per year in Canada
United States and Great Britain $2.50 money is being spent to furnish relief, it should be used so that greater employment is created for the coal industry workers in Canada.

Through the efforts of the local coal companies steadier employment has been secured with a resultant increase in the payroll.

Notes and Comments

It is a wise maxim not to say anything unless you have something worth while to talk or write on. But readers of this column might complain of our laziness if we were to remain silent, no matter how we might search our thoughts for an interesting topic.

The most absorbing topic these days to many is the political situation. So many conflicting schools of thought and ideals create a divergence of opinion, and old line political parties are hammered and criticized till their reputation is torn into shreds, and the only simon pure people imbued with high ideals are those who have new theories or worn-out theories the fallacies of which have been proved by experience covering centuries.

In reviewing Canada's progress under party government, which really has proved to be responsible government, the records of both parties do not justify the irresponsible utterings of their critics. The Journal is a believer in party government, for if a government is split into so many factions that it cannot truly govern, the whole country suffers from a lack of responsible leadership.

For that reason the advent of a straight party candidate would be welcomed, and The Journal expresses the opinion of a great many people in Rocky Mountain constituency who are desirous of giving their support to a candidate of the established parties. The voting at the election of 1930 clearly indicated that there is a large section of voters who are not easily misled into bypaths of untried and hazy theories.

The advent of Major Douglas so far has done little towards clearing the air of misconceptions concerning his plan. His statements on his plan have always been so hedged around with provisos as to this and that as to leave his hearers in a fog. Men experienced in economics admit they cannot understand his plan, yet thousands of less experienced people believe they understand the principles of self-appointed leaders who try to make them believe that the people can be swept into prosperity by taking in each other's washing, or by paying by means of a tax or levy the monthly dividends held out as a bait for political support.

However, everyone to his own knitting, to reap the benefits of the mistakes of his own thinking. Thought is the most powerful thing when it comes to shaping policies, but too few really think, preferring to follow the lead or to climb on the band-wagon of the party which makes the big noise. As there is no royal road to success, so there is no easy road to solve the problems of life.

Man's wants have increased with the years. Living in a natural state, his wants would be few. Present-day luxuries, such as motor cars, radios, electric appliances of all kinds, are not considered as such. Fifty years ago even man's wants were fewer than now. Yet we complain of hardships when we have become accustomed to a standard of living without increasing our ability to pay the increased expenses that accompany a steadily advanced standard. Possibly all these views are lopsided, and we are losing a true perspective of life and its deeper meaning. Moral values have declined while the prevailing state of mind has tended to make people desire more of the material things of life than they can afford.

At this time of the year spring cleaning is in the air. Not only on the inside of the home, but on the outside there is always much to be done and the more each individual does towards keeping his surroundings clean and tidy and ashes removed weekly the more creditable the town appears to home owners as well as visitors. It has been suggested that a competition be inaugurated whereby a prize would be given for the best kept premises and garden.

The convention of the Western Canada Fuel Association in Winnipeg condemned the use of American coal for people on relief and a campaign will be organized whereby a greater volume of western coal will be used in eastern Canada. It is argued that if public money is being spent to furnish relief, it should be used so that greater employment is created for the coal industry workers in Canada.

A woe-begone looking man came in to the office early in the morning smelling strongly of whisky. "I'm a sign painter; could you give me a job to help me out?" he asked. He painted a small sign, taking less than half an hour for which we paid him a dollar, in order to extend the helping hand. Next morning he came back again with a further request for a handout and still smelling strongly of spirituous liquor. Inquiry revealed he had spent the night in the "moscow" and it was evident that he gave us money it enabled him to buy more liquor. We told him he was out of luck, somewhat against his inner feelings, for he was a slave to drink for whom the only remedy was control by a stronger force than he himself could exert. He was an old soldier who traded on the sympathy of people. If a man really needs food and shelter, sufficient sympathy will usually be aroused to provide it. But what can you do if a fellow instead of trying to help himself plunges still further into the depths of despair and sodden himself with "booze"?

"CHEAP SKATES"

The truth might well be told, hurt whom it may. We have no time to print news or free brochures for persons or organizations who, when having money to spend on advertising or printing, overlook the fact that The Journal is here. Wages and other expenses cannot be met on free stuff, therefore do not ask for it. This paper is here to make a living for those in its employ, besides renders its share of community service, contributes to every appeal and to at least give a favorable impression of the town throughout the country. It makes one disgusted at times to see the "pikers" there are who expect a paper to do this and do that and never contribute a cent to its coffers.

Some are so darned small that if they see you wearing a respectable suit of clothes they think you are rolling in the lap of wealth. We've a few on the list who come under the heading of "four-flushers."

MY DEBT TO MY TOWN

(High River Times)

"My town owes me nothing. If accounts were balanced at this date, I would be the debtor. Haven't I, all these years, lived within the limits of the town and shared all its benefits? Haven't I had the benefits of its schools and churches? Haven't I had the use of its parks and public places? Haven't I had the protection of its fire and police and health departments? Haven't its people, during all this time, been gathering for me from the four corners of the earth, food for my table, clothing for my body and material for my home?

"Hasn't my town furnished the patronage by which I have succeeded in my business? Hasn't it furnished the best friends of my life, whose ideals have been my inspiration, whose kind words have been my cheer, and whose helpfulness has carried me over the greatest difficulties?

"What will I give in return? Not simply the taxes which cover so small a part of what I have received. I want to give more; I want, of my own free will, to give enough that I can rightfully say, 'This is my town,' so that I can take pride in my town, so that I can take pride in its prosperity, in the honors which come to its citizens, and all that make it greater and better.

"I can do this only by becoming a part of the town—by giving to it generously of myself. In this way only can I, even in small part, pay the great debt I owe my town."—Selected.

A fellow was seen driving around town in a new automobile. A group of business men saw it at different times. Talking over things in common one day, and comparing notes, they found they really owned the car instead of the fellow driving it. Each had a bill for goods of various kinds from groceries to house furnishings long overdue totalling more than the value of the car. Yet their debtor allowed their bills to remain unpaid while he paid for the car and bought gasoline. Not what you would call "paying the game" is conduct of this kind. Needless to say that particular individual's credit was "shot" for any further purchases. First things should come first, and luxuries such as automobiles can well wait till the retailers' bills are paid.

SAVE MONEY!

turn your present car in on a new PONTIAC

OWNING a Pontiac is much easier than you think. Three factors make it so: (1) generous allowance on your present car; (2) the low price of the new Six; (3) the low financing rates of G.M.A.C.

If your present car is ageing to a point where expensive overhauling may be necessary, why not turn it in on a 1935 Pontiac Six or Straight Eight? You will save money in the long run. Certainly you will enjoy what you may be missing now . . . dependability, economy, performance, comfort . . . in fact all the advantages of motoring exclusive in a modern automobile.

There's a smart new Pontiac at our showrooms ready for you to look at, ride in and drive. Will you come in and try it out?

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

PRICED FROM $936
(for the Standard Six 2-Pass. Coupe.)

Delivered, fully equipped at factory, Oshawa, Ont. and Government Registration Fee only extra

Prices of 8-cylinder models at factory begin at $1149.

SOLID STEEL TURRET-TOP BODY BY FISHER

KNEE ACTION on Eight, De Luxe Six and some standard Six Models

TRIPLE SEALED HYDRAULIC BRAKES

CROSS FLOW RADIATOR

Sentinel Motors
Telephone 21 Main Street, Coleman

Thirty Years Ago

Coleman's First Newspaper Was Born

EARLY files have been lost, for in the intervening years there have been several changes. Its name has been under various editors—The Bulletin, The Miner, The News, and since 1921 The Journal, when it was operated by Messrs Barrett & Gare, the latter purchasing Barrett's interest and in 1927 selling the present owner.

It will soon be eight years since the present proprietor came here. The years 1928-29 saw the climax of an upward trend and the anti-climax of the depression commencing. But The Journal kept serving the community and paying its way through difficult times, sharing the vicissitudes with the rest of the people. It went through the strike of 1932 when the "Reds" tried to capture control of council and school board, and did their darndest to throttle the opinions of all who opposed them.

WHILE it never has been and never will be a means of accumulating wealth, yet we take pride in turning out a weekly newspaper worthy of the community. Some co-operate splendidly by advertising and subscribing regularly, while others hang back but take the benefits that may accrue from their more progressive and community-conscious fellow citizens.

A local newspaper cannot be more than a reflex of local business enterprise. The enterprising merchant will see that his advertisement, no matter if it be large or small, regularly appears, for usually it is the regular advertiser who is the most progressive in his line of business.

Grand May Celebration Bellevue May 24th

Full Line of Sports

Races, Softball, Tug-o'-War, Horseshoe Pitching, Five-a-side Football

Open-Air Platform Attractions

Crowning of May Queen, Choral Singing by Junior Choir Folk Dances and the old-time Maypole Dances

Admission to Grounds 25¢

School Pupils Free

A Good Time for Everybody!

Proceeds in Aid of the United Church Renovation Fund

New Modes of Types

KEEPING abreast of the times is our idea of modern business, and we do this by constantly adding the most modern faces of type to our equipment. Styles in type and printing change, just as they do in clothes or millinery, or in automobiles and breakfast foods.

When you need printing—stationery, office forms, folders, broadsides, booklets, catalogues or what not—place your order with The Coleman Journal. You will be assured of getting the kind of printing you will be proud to see and it really costs little more than "Job" printing you might get at some shop noted for its sloppy work.

The Coleman Journal
Printers and Publishers
Coleman : Alberta

International Coal & Coke Co., Ltd:

- Producers of -

High Grade Coal and Coke

PROMPT ATTENTION to Local Deliveries

GENERAL OFFICE HOURS:

International Coal & Coke Co., Limited
Coleman Light & Water Co., Limited

Saturdays: 8.30 a.m. to 1.00 p.m.
Other Weekdays: 8.30 a.m. to 5.00 p.m.

UNIQUE COAL SHIPMENT

Stop that STOMACH and LIVER trouble, dizzy head, gas on stomach by taking Heptola. It has given assured relief to thousands all over Canada. New price $5.00 at your druggists or send to us. Write for circular and testimonials. Mrs. Geo. S. Almas, Box C.J. 1073, Saskatoon, Sask.

Canadian Legion Sends

(Continued from Page 1)
Streamers, etc. 1.80
Thumb Tacks 1.05
Total $65.35

The president, Harry Garner, and Peter Smith, secretary, on behalf of the Legion executive, express their thanks for the fine support given them. Without doubt Coleman branch of the Legion has contributed in a manner worthy of the best traditions of ex-service men.

"LEST WE FORGET" BRINGS BACK WAR MEMORIES

Legion members and wives, making a party of 22, went by Harold Jones' bus to see the picture "Lest We Forget" at Cole's theatre on Monday evening. It is a very good record of Canadian troop movements during the war, from the time they were mobilized in Quebec, through the mud of Vimy Ridge, the landing of the first division at St. Nazaire, through the second battle of Ypres, Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, the arrival of the third, fourth and fifth Canadian divisions, and the final entry into Mons and across the Rhine. Considering the difficulty under which pictures of this nature were filmed, they were indeed good. A striking picture was one of a battleship slowly sinking and hundreds of the crew jumping into the sea.

As a reminder of the horrors and futility of war, "Lest We Forget" conveys a grim object lesson.

OPERATION HAS NO TERRORS FOR THIS GENTLEMAN

The wandering scribe dropped into the hospital to see Lord Nelson, who two weeks ago decided to undergo some repairs to fortify him for the stress and strain of modern life. The first thing he asked was "are you looking for a change of advt. for this week's issue?" Assuring him that we were not out on business bent, but making him a social call, he proceeded to enlighten us on the skill of surgeons and the good job they had done in rejuvenating him. All that was required to give him a brand new start in life with all the vim and energy of a young man of 21 was some monkey glands. He carefully explained how by the technique of modern surgery you can talk with the doctor while he is carving away at the various utensils in your innards, and that there is no sickening after-effect such as chloroform leaves. In fact his description was so interesting that we were reminded of Dr. Cobb's operation some years ago. This well-known novelist was operated on for appendicitis, in the days when you were not blotted out of consciousness while the surgeon carved you open and sewed you up again. Cobb capitalized on his experience by writing a corking good story for the Saturday Evening Post, which was a masterpiece of humor. Had we remained with our friend much longer we would have absorbed sufficient atmosphere and descriptive material to have made an attempt to emulate the novelist.

On parting, he suggested that we inform his friends that he is in better shape now than the original Lord Nelson, and though it may be a couple of weeks before he is around again, he feels that he will be stepping around livelier than ever.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED OPENS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

A series of advertisements commencing this week has been released by Imperial Oil Limited. The series has also been distributed in booklet form to the company's 7,000 employees in Canada, states W. Frank Prendergast, assistant to the president. The attention of Journal readers is called to the advertisements, which should be carefully noted as they appear during the next two months.

Imperial Oil Limited is an institution which has made wonderful progress in its 54 years of existence, and the three stars in an oval is noted as the "Sign of a Square Deal."

Rawleigh

Good Health Products
Spices, Flavorings, Medicines and Toiletries

We have a large variety of Stationery, School Supplies, Novelty Jewelry, China Ware, Souvenirs, Etc.

Printing, Developing and Enlarging done here.

24 hour service.
Pictures Keep The Story
F. VERNON, Proprietor
Coleman Next to Bank

36 RECORDS SMASHED IN DESERT SPEED CARNIVAL

On the edge of the Mojave Desert, racing day and night around a five-mile circle, on the slick bed of Muroc Dry Lake, a trio of speedway stars, driving in relays, smashed 36 official records in a standard stock Hudson

Eight sedan. Among the new marks to 99.03 for the new 5-kilometer race were unlimited displacement marks cord. Temperature conditions were unusual, dropping after nightfall, as much as 50 degrees from the noon high in the desert sun.

Photo shows the stock Hudson Eight making better than 90 miles an hour during one of the official speed tests.

MISCELLANEOUS

Mrs. M. W. Ferguson was a Lethbridge visitor on Friday last.

Charlie Graham, of Lacombe, was a visitor in town with his father and brothers over the week-end.

The high school students held a social evening in the Italian hall on Friday evening.

Mrs. J. Lonsbury left Wednesday for a month's visit at Nova Scotia, where she will be the guest of friends.

James Glenendean has been on the sick list for the last two weeks suffering from a knee ailment.

Mrs. H. T. Halliwell entertained a number of lady friends at bridge on Friday evening.

Last Friday evening the Ladettes' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion held a white drive and social in the I.O.O.F. hall, which was enjoyed by Legion members and wives.

A test was made last week at McGillivray plant on 100 tons of International coal being put through the wet washer recently put into operation.

Mrs. H. C. McBurney recently entertained a number of young people in honor of Miss Susan Wilson. A very enjoyable evening was spent in various games and competitions.

Saturday, May 18, was the last day on which the 10 per cent discount on town taxes for 1935 was allowed, and Town Clerk Ford was kept busy issuing tax receipts from 10 a.m. till 4:30 p.m.

Calgary school board decided that Principal Aberhart of Crescent high school be not granted any more days from school duties till the end of the school term, on the grounds that he could not do justice to his duties if outside interests conflicted with his school work.

Miss Sheila Marryatt, radio secretary at the University of Alberta, one of the adjudicators at Lethbridge musical festival, spent a day visiting the music classes of the Pass schools under Mr. Moffatt, instructor, and commented very highly on the general standard of the pupils.

The Young Conservative Association will hold a convention in Calgary on June 8, and invite two lady delegates and two gentlemen from every town in southern Alberta. Meals and lodgings will be provided so that all that is required is a car to transport the delegates. Col. R. F. Barnes has the required information.

Mrs. J. L. Lonsbury was honored by a surprise party of ladies on Monday evening prior to her departure on Wednesday for a visit to her old home in Nova Scotia. She was presented with a travelling club bag as a tribute of friendship by the party. It is her first visit home in 21 years. Her friends extend good wishes for an enjoyable holiday.

Miss Frances Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tompkins, of Blairmore, was graduated last week from Manitoba University, receiving

VULCANIZING

General Tire Repairs.
Washing Machine
Wringer Rebuilt.

Express paid one way.
All Work Guaranteed.

SCOTT'S TIRE SHOP
Macleod, Alberta

TYPEWRITERS

Exceptionally good buys. Guaranteed by Remington Co. Regular Price $75, may be obtained for $45.00

O-K RUBBER STAMPS PROMPT SERVICE

Fernie Brewing Co., Ltd.

Dividend Notice

A Dividend of 50¢ per share payable July 2nd to shareholders of record on June 17, has just been declared by the Fernie Brewing Co., Ltd.

CALL-WRITE-PHONE

Brewery Investments Ltd.

507 Grain Exchange Building, Calgary, Alberta

McGillivray Creek Coal and Coke Company, Limited

SHIPPERS OF HIGH GRADE BITUMINOUS STEAM COAL

Head Office and Mines:

COLEMAN

ALBERTA

The Opportunities Of Youth

Within recent weeks some thousands of young men and women have graduated from Canadian colleges and universities, received their diplomas, and are now ready and anxious to start out in the careers for which they have been fitting themselves. That is, there is a new small army of lawyers, doctors, clergymen, nurses, teachers, chemists, engineers, scientific agriculturists, and others in various lines of activity equipped to assume their share of the nation's work. To that work they are prepared to bring not only the enthusiasm and energy of youth, but the very latest knowledge, ideas and methods.

In the course of the next few weeks additional thousands of young men and women will emerge from normal schools, collegiates and high schools, not quite so highly trained, but who do not aim at a university degree or who cannot afford the time and expense which years in college will entail. These, too, are ready and anxious to assume a place in the world's work.

Many of these young people have made great sacrifices and denied themselves pleasures even common to their equals in age, and many parents have sacrificed greater sacrifices to assist and enable their children to obtain advantages which they themselves never enjoyed.

The unfortunate, the tragic, fact is that these young men and women face extremely difficult conditions in securing places in the professions or occupations for which they have equipped themselves. They enter upon a hectic scene at a time when the whole world is undergoing political, social and economic upheaval which is the aftermath of a great war fought in the years of their childhood. There is nothing unusual in such an upheaval because a similar condition has followed after every great war in the world's history, the only difference being that in this more highly civilized and advanced world standards of education and living are much higher than in bygone centuries, life is more complex, and we all expect and demand more than did our forefathers.

The world of mankind could not commit the enormous and terrible crime of the Great War and expect to escape the equally terrible consequences of the crime committed. The world of youth can truthfully say they are not responsible for that crime, and youth may ask why they should be punished because of it. But, no matter how great the changes that have taken place down through the centuries, neither the moral law nor the laws of Nature have been altered. They remain fast and unalterable, and it is still true as it has been from the beginning of time that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children of succeeding generations.

Youth must face this solemn truth and, along with it, face conditions as they are and the responsibilities which are forced upon them. They must get out into the world and live in doing so must decide for themselves what attitude to stand toward life is to be. They cannot, even if good would, evade their responsibilities and must discharge them either for good or ill as they themselves determine.

The young graduate in law looking on life and his profession merely as a means of livelihood, wealth and position, or he is inspired with a sincere desire to see justice done in all cases, wrongs righted, oppression removed, regardless of the fact whether it means wealth and position for himself or not?

The graduate nurse only desirous of obtaining steady employment for herself, or has she a real vision of service in the profession ennobled by Florence Nightingale who gave her whole life to it without thought of personal reward?

In the new medical doctor thinking only of a big and lucrative practice in some centre of population, or is he resolved to devote his life to the alleviation of suffering wherever it may exist, and the prevention of disease that may likewise be prevented, quite apart from material gain to himself?

In a word, are our new lawyers, doctors, nurses, teachers, engineers, clergymen, and others entering upon the activities of this sorely troubled society for themselves, the attainment of social position and power, as so many as possible fame and fortune? Or are they, like the Master, who said, "or are they going to strive to excel in the rendering of service to their fellow men? Is it life itself, in its truest and highest meaning, they are going to live, or is it to be merely a striving for selfish possession of the material things of life?

The great and noble history records with credit and which household words to inspire, are those of men and women who assumed wealth or achieved social position. Who, they are the names of the disciples who, ignoring and abandoning all, followed the Master; names, too, like David Livingstone and Florence Nightingale; names of doctors, chemists, scientists and inventors who freely gave their discoveries to the world for the welfare and advancement; clergymen and missionaries who lived not for themselves but for others.

Youth to-day enjoys just as great opportunities for real service as at any previous time. It depends upon youth itself which road it will travel—the road to helpful service to uplift, elevate standards of thought and living, or the road of personal selfishness, thinking only of self, and thus tending to a further degradation of mankind and intensifying the troubles, sorrows and injustices of the world.

A sailing vessel built in Denmark in 1799 is still on its trade routes and the coming of white men, a pair of crossed sticks before an open door being thought sufficient precaution.

Salt at the Wedding

In certain parts of France the bride's wedding salt is dropped into the soup to...! Read all about this and other customs of gripping interest, in wonderful NEW PICTURE BOOK FOR CHILDREN.

Free... Write now!

WINDSOR SALT

CANADIAN INDUSTRIES LIMITED
REGAL SALT
Inferior, flinty, tasteless salt for your cooking, and for health. A Windsor product.

Tear Off and Mail Today
CANADIAN INDUSTRIES LIMITED
REGAL SALT
Inferior, flinty, tasteless salt for your cooking, and for health. A Windsor product.

Without a booklet, send special Children's booklet, "SALT all over the World."

Name _____
Address _____

Soybean Seed Varies

Amount Required Per Acre Depends Largely On Variety

Soybeans may be drilled solid, like small grains, or sown in cultivated rows, usually 28 inches apart. The grain drill can be used for both methods.

The amount of seed required to plant an acre depends to some extent upon the variety, as soybean seed varies somewhat in size, according to the variety. In general, however, row seeding will require from 30 to 45 pounds of seed per acre, while drilled seeding will require 90 to 120 pounds of seed per acre. The drill should be regulated to drop the seed about 1 to 2 inches apart in row planting, and 2 to 3 inches apart where drilled sown.

The time of seeding will vary somewhat according to locality and conditions. At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, seeding about the middle of May has been found very satisfactory.

Building Special Machine

Britain Will Attempt To Regain Altitude Record

The attempt of the Royal Air Force to regain the altitude record for Great Britain is to be made by specially selected officers in August.

The present world record is that of 47,572 feet, reached by the Italian aviator Donati. For this stratosphere flight the Air Ministry recently placed an order for a special machine, and it is now under construction.

The chosen crew will undergo training similar to that of Schneider Trophy pilots. One test which will be applied at the R.A.F. establishment at Farnborough, England, will be that of the "Decompression Chamber," in which a man is placed and his reactions noted to atmospheric conditions similar to those of the stratosphere.

HIS LUMBAGO HAS NOT COME BACK

Keeps Free Of It With Kruschen

There can be no doubt about the effectiveness of the remedy this uses against lumbago. Read his letter:

"About four years ago, I had a bad attack of lumbago. After being in hospital for two weeks taking heat treatment, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Since then I have not had a bad attack. I have not been troubled with lumbago. I shall still continue taking Kruschen to be sure the lumbago won't come back." —A. C. C.

Why is Kruschen so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble, and removes the cause, which is an impure bloodstream. The salts in Kruschen help the blood vessels purify itself by promoting a clockwise regulation of all the organs of elimination.

Cyclone On The Sun

Represented By Group Of Enormous Spots Just Discovered

German astronomers and meteorologists report the discovery of a group of enormous spots on the sun ten times the size of the earth.

The Potsdam Observatory reported having found on the lower left edge of the sun a fantastically patterned group of spots, the length of which German scientists estimated at between 60,000 and 70,000 Kilometers.

The German astronomers say that these sun spots represent a cyclone of powerful dimensions which has suddenly appeared on the sun and now is moving in the upper gas stratum, sending great waves of electrical tension into space.

Foresees End Of Scourge

One of Famous Mayo Brothers Says Cancer Being Conquered

Dr. W. J. Mayo, one of the two famous Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minn., predicted at San Diego, Cal., that "the day is not far distant when there will be no fear of cancer."

"Less than 10 per cent of American people are susceptible to cancer, and of these only a very small percentage ever contract it. It is with these that we are working," he said.

"Medical science has made rapid strides toward control of cancer and sooner than many suspect will have it whipped just as medical science wiped typhoid fever."

"My papa's a mounted policeman," said little Pat to his mother's visitor.

"Is that better than being a foot policeman?" she asked.

"Course it is," replied Pat. "If there's any trouble, he can get away quicker."

1,000 PAIRS OF MONARCH DEBUTANTE SILK STOCKINGS Free!

Go to your druggist or department store and buy RIT Dye (Any color, 15c-25c) in a stick of 25 words or less, why not RIT—1,000 pairs of Monarch Debutante full-length shades—free pure silk chifon stockings later. Special prizes guaranteed $1.00 value will be given to prizes to 1,000 entrants. There are dozens of reasons why you prefer RIT Dyes. It comes in 33 different colors from which you can dye over 500 of the newer Paris shades.

FAST COLORS WITHOUT BOILING! Only RIT offers this advantage! RIT is the modern tint or dye-easier and surest-fast dye ever invented. Because it contains a patented ingredient that makes the color soak in deeper, set faster and last longer.

HOW TO WIN

1. Write a short statement (under 50 words) on why you prefer RIT Dyes and send it together with an empty RIT package (or two) and address to John A. Houston Co. Ltd., 42 Caledonia Rd., Toronto.
2. Send as many as you wish; contest closes midnight, Aug. 15, 1935.
3. 1,000 prizes will be awarded on the decision of the judges, which will be final. Whether you win part of silk stockings or not, you must mail to entrants free, charge, our famous hooker—"The A.B.C. of Home Rug Making".

Little Journeys In Science

WOOD ALCOHOL

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Wood alcohol, or methyl alcohol, is made by the distillation of wood tar during the production of charcoal. It is one of the vapours that comes over in the distillation. Acids, such as acetic (vinegar) also come over; these acids are removed and made into methyl alcohol distilled off. Another method of producing wood alcohol has recently been discovered. This new process consists of heating a mixture of two volumes of hydrogen with one volume of carbon monoxide over a substance known to chemists as a catalyst. Now a catalyst is something which speeds up a chemical reaction but itself remains unchanged. The catalyst used in this new method of making wood alcohol consists chiefly of zinc oxide.

Pure methyl alcohol has an odour and taste resembling ordinary alcohol, but it is poisonous and causes blindness and death have occurred from drinking beverages containing wood alcohol. It should not even be allowed to come into contact with the eyes or mouth. When methyl alcohol is used to denature ethyl alcohol (ordinary alcohol).

Wood alcohol has been used for many years in the dye industry and is also used in making linoleum, varnish, lacquer, paint, and varnishes. It is the raw material from which formalin, the well-known disinfectant, is made. Methyl alcohol burns with a flame of high temperature and hence is used in alcohol stoves.

In the production of methyl alcohol from wood three interesting by-products are produced. One is a mixture of ethyl alcohol, formaldehyde, and acetic acid. This mixture is known as wood vinegar.

Another is a compound called methyl ketone, a similarly irritant liquid which is made from a compound forming the basis of an ointment which is used for colds and sore throats. This compound made from methyl alcohol is a synthetic mustard oil.

Silk thread, because it has greater tensile strength than steel wire of the same diameter, is used by a German in making cannon. The cannon is made of steel tubes, wrapped with silk thread until the required size is attained.

The German astronomers say that these sun spots represent a cyclone of powerful dimensions which has suddenly appeared on the sun and now is moving in the upper gas stratum, sending great waves of electrical tension into space.

Silk thread, because it has greater

Game Conservation

Demand For One Year's Moratorium On Waterfowl Shooting

Conducted by international conservation leaders, a massed petition demanding a one year's moratorium on waterfowl shooting is crystallizing in 11 midwest states and three Canadian provinces.

The movement, known as the Midwest Conservation Alliance, was organized for international midwest action on "the greatest wild life emergency America has faced since the passing of the buffalo."

Such international leaders as W. G. Ross, Moose Jaw, president of the Saskatchewan Field and Game League, Konrad Roosevelt, New York, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, and Jack Miner, Kingsville, Ont.,宋家河谷的野生动植物。

With preliminary activities indicating a strong likelihood of opinion for its objective, the Alliance is circulating petitions prepared on two forms—for sportsmen's clubs and individual sportsmen. After signing, these forms are returned to the St. Paul office for correlation. When complete, the massed petition containing names of thousands of midwest sportsmen and sportswomen from which will be personally presented to President Roosevelt to secure an executive order for a closed season.

"In extending an invitation to Canadians to join in the movement," the first M.C.A. bulletin read, "this organization does so with the realization that it is the duty of the United States to first put its house in order."

"Our responses from Canada have demonstrated beyond doubt the sporting blood of our neighbors, and have accentuated the need for United States action on the problem. On the basis of the past absence of duck hunting as practiced in the States, Canada would have been justified in ignoring our appeal. We deem it our mandate to make restitution to waterfowl owners through abstaining from extirpation through a closed season for one year."

Inviting Canadian organizations to join the movement by signing petitions, the Alliance announced that all units desiring petitions may receive them by addressing to the St. Paul office.

The organization represents the greatest concentration of conservation leadership and prestige ever assembled under a single campaign crusade," the bulletin concluded.

New Publications

McKin's 1935 Directory Of Canadian Publications Gives Evidence Of Improved Conditions

The 1935 McKin's Directory of Canadian Publications, just off the press, lists tangible evidence of improved business conditions, showing an increase of 62 new publications as against an increase of only 20 the previous year. Failures in the publication field decreased proportionately.

This 1935 edition of the directory is the twenty-eighth, the series having begun several years after the founding of the A. McKinley Limited, advertising agency in 1889.

Recognized as an authentic gazetteer of advertising media throughout Canada, the directory gives exhaustive information about newspapers, magazines, trade papers and miscellaneous publications. Provinces, cities and towns where publications operate are all listed, together with populations, industries and outstanding characteristics of market areas.

Somewhat larger than its predecessor, this edition will replace last year's directory on the desks of manufacturers, publishers and all firms dealing in advertising in Canada. Enquiries concerning the publication should be addressed to any one of the six McKin Advertising Agency offices at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax or London, England.

The 1935 edition of the directory will replace last year's directory on the desks of manufacturers, publishers and all firms dealing in advertising in Canada. Enquiries concerning the publication should be addressed to any one of the six McKin Advertising Agency offices at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Halifax or London, England.

A tire with especially heavy tread is one manufacturer's solution of the winter problem of driving on snowy and icy surfaces.

The Roll of Honour

Call the toll of critical "roll your owners" and you'll find that Ogden's Fine Cut is their favourite cigarette tobacco.

Ogden's roll cigarettes that are cooler — milder — more fragrant, because every leaf used is selected for quality, and mellowed by nature.

Ogden's Fine Cut and "Vogue" or "Chantecler" papers are the combination receiving the highest honour from men who "roll their own".

SAVE THE POKER HANDS

OGDEN'S FINE CUT

Your Pipe Knows Ogden's Cut Plug

A Clever Sculptor

Work Of Blind War Veteran Admired

Ernesto Maselli, who completely lost his sight in the World War, has become a sculptor in Rome. The ex-soldier had done no modeling until four years ago. His exceptional memory enables him to recall shapes and details, and he prefers to work in the dark when the household has gone to bed at night. In spite of his heavy handicap, Maselli has overcome the technical difficulties of his art without instruction. His work has been much admired in Italian art circles.

Several fragments of sixth century B.C. pottery discovered at ruins of Lachish, Palestine, bear the name of Jahve, spelled as Jehovah in the Bible.

THE FAMOUS RUBBING LINIMENT

Rub on new liniment. Get new liniment economy size—Also available in smaller, regular size.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

65 MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

SIMPLE DIRECTIONS ON THE PACKAGE

TRY IT SOON!

Warehouses At Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg

World's Largest Plane, Pride Of Soviet Russia, Collapses After Collision

Moscow.—The world's largest land plane, the Maxim Gorky, pride of Soviet Russia, crashed to earth Saturday after a collision with a small stunt plane and all the 48 persons aboard the giant ship, along with Pilot Blagin of the other machine, were killed.

The disaster occurred over the village of Soco, Moscow suburb, at 12:45 p.m., but for 10 hours authorities clamped down a rigid censorship which delayed the tragic news.

The council of people's commissioners authorized Sunday construction of three new planes of the same type as the Maxim Gorky.

Soviet authorities announced the new giant aircraft would be named Vladimir Lenin, Joseph Stalin and Maxim Gorky after three of the Soviet's greatest heroes.

The victims of the crash will be buried at the old Donskoi monastery.

The giant plane and the smaller one collided. The former broke in mid-air and crashed to the ground. It was the worst disaster with the largest death toll ever to befall a passenger plane.

Mikhail Kotsoff, head of the committee which sponsored the building of the original craft, telephoned the Communist party newspaper Pravda from Paris and asserted: "The Bolsheviks never retreat."

He demanded that Soviet Russia build a "larger, more beautiful and more powerful" ship even than the old Gorky, to serve as a memorial to the victims of the disaster.

A motorist passing the village of Soco when the accident occurred said Blagin's plane made two loops and was coming out of the second when it struck the wing of the Gorky near the point where it joined the fuselage.

"The Gorky trembled and lost altitude sharply," he said.

"The small plane stuck for a moment in the Gorky's wing and then fell away. The whole wing of the larger ship broke off. The Gorky slipped to the other side and then came into a nose dive."

Bodies of the 49 victims, many of whom had been broken badly, were collected and held in a morgue for a state funeral. Eight of them were women and six children.

The shooting of Pilot Blagin in the smaller plane, which was held responsible for the disaster, was an example of "a criminal lack of discipline" which the government and the Communist party are removing from the airfield with hot irons, the newspaper Pravda, Communist party organ, said.

Orders had been issued never to stunt in the vicinity of the Moscow airfield, said Pravda. It termed stunters "air hoodlums" and called for enforcement of orders against stunting.

An official explanation of the accident was the Gorky broke up because the small plane loosened a wing, throwing a sudden strain on all other parts when the huge craft went into a dive. The victims' families will be granted special pensions and a lump sum indemnity.

Blind Astronomer Dead

Dr. Frost Continued Work After Losing His Sight

Chicago.—Dr. Edward Brant Frost, 68, the astronomer who single-handedly enabled the world to see the universe more clearly, died in his pitai here from peritonitis.

Director emeritus of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory, at Williams Bay, Wis., he was famous for his knowledge of astrophysics.

He retired in 1931 but continued active in work at the observatory until overtaken by illness four years ago.

Primarily, Dr. Frost was a teacher and the blindness which afflicted him 15 years ago he surmounted to continue his work.

Seeking the secrets of the stars through eyes of assistants, after his retirement Dr. Frost sought the hypothesis that the solar system was created by exploding stars.

Want To Reach Agreement

Tokio, Japan.—The council of the Japan-Canada Society, which includes many influential business men, has passed a resolution urging that the government make another attempt to reach an agreement with Canada for the lifting of restrictions against Japanese goods, and, if that is not successful, to apply Japan's trade protection law against Canadian imports.

Ceremony Re-Enacted

Celebrate Anniversary Of Driving The Last Spike On East-West Portion Of C.P.R.

Jackfish, Ont.—Near this tiny railway and fishing hamlet on the north shore of Lake Superior, Canadian history was re-enacted when the 50th anniversary of the driving of the last spike in the east-west portion of the Canadian Pacific Railway was observed.

In the presence of a large party of railway officials and pioneer workers of the line, Alex Anderson, 81, Fort Arthur, who assisted at the informal ceremony on May 16, 1885, with a few vigorous blows drove home a spike in the place of its historic predecessor.

Railway Job Sharing Plan

Toronto.—A plan for "job-sharing" on Canadian railways which, it is claimed, would put 25,000 men back at work at once and would save Canada $13,000,000 a year, is advanced in a letter being sent to all senators and members of the House of Commons by a committee of railwaymen.

Many Prospective Tourists

Ottawa.—The tourist bureau which is under Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways and canals has had more than 14,000 inquiries from people in the United States during the past six weeks.

Prospects Are Good For Crops In The Western Drouth Areas

Winnipeg.—The cycle of "dry" years, which brought recurring drouths of almost unprecedented intensity to a huge area of the prairie provinces, apparently is ended. Official figures show precipitation is normal in the west.

Prospects for good crops in the "drouth area" of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta this year appear the best since 1928. "Practically all the dry areas have received excellent precipitation since April," reports A. R. McCauley, head of the Dominion meteorological bureau here.

"All districts of the prairies," the weather man went on, "have received at least two or three times as much rain since April 1 as in the same period last year. The only exception is northern Manitoba."

Most striking increase in Saskatchewan is at Moose Jaw, where 4.39 inches of rain have fallen this season and 32 in the April-May period in 1934. That southern Saskatchewan city already has received 1.7 inches of rain more than the normal for the two-month period.

In Alberta, the average fall has been 2.38 compared with the average in the same period of 1934 of .73. The greatest gains have been recorded in "dry" areas.

Ottawa.—The government's program for rehabilitation of drouth areas in western Canada will be carried on notwithstanding improved conditions, it was stated here.

Reports from the prairie provinces of greatly increased rainfall, giving rise to the view that the cycle of dry years is ended, will not interfere with steps already under way to guard against repetition of the drouth conditions, if that can be done.

Dr. G. H. S. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture, who has just returned from the west, said that more than rain was required in the drouth areas. The program for rehabilitation envisages steps for prevention of soil drifting, revamping of agricultural practice in some areas, conservation of water, and other things.

Beatty Heads Scouts

C.P.R. President Re-Elected At Annual Meeting In Toronto

Toronto.—E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was re-elected president of the Canadian Boy Scouts' Association at the annual meeting here.

Other Dominion officers are: Chief executive commissioner, John A. Stirling; honorary chairman secretary, Gerald H. Brown; honorary counsel, Dr. Francis H. Gibbons.

The meeting heard a report that $352,000 was subscribed to aid the growth of the Scout movement and it was predicted that the $500,000 objective set by the governor-general, the Earl of Bessborough, would be reached before the end of the year.

The total number of Scouts in Canada this year was 65,828, an increase of 1,62 per cent.

Eulogizes Work Of Order

Sir Robert Borden Says Motto Of I.O.D.E. Is An Inspiration

Ottawa.—Highest eulogy of the endeavors of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire was given by Sir Robert Borden in a message read at the banquet by the municipal chapter of Ottawa to delegates attending the 35th annual meeting of the national chapter. The dinner was attended by 500 members and delegates.

Sir Robert, who was unable to be present, said "to those who believe, I do, that the continued unity of the British Empire is and will be of the highest service not only to its component nations but to the world, the motto of the I.O.D.E. is in itself an inspiration."

Farm Loan Board

Holds First Meeting Under Chairmanship Of John Barnett

Ottawa.—The newly organized Canadian farm loan board held its first meeting under the chairmanship of Sir A. Barnett in that position. Dr. MacLean remains a member of the board along with Charles Duquette, also a former member, and E. J. Roberts, comptroller of government guarantees, who represents the minister of finance.

Business was selection of provincial superintendents who will perform the functions formerly carried out by the provincial boards which were abolished when amendments to the act were adopted at the present session of parliament.

Refugee Debts

Calgary.—In the first four months' operations of the farmers-creditors' agreement act in the Calgary district, farmers have had their debts reduced by about $125,000, it was learned. The sum represents voluntary adjustments only and is not concerned with adjustments made through the board of review.

Open Second Court

Calgary.—Social credit-conscious foreigners seeking British naturalization have staged such a stampede on the Calgary court house that a second court to deal with applications has been opened. Many hundreds were on the waiting list.

Conference Of Coal Dealers

Winnipeg.—Recommendation

a conference of coal dealers to be called to consider means of saving and increasing the Canadian coal market was approved at the annual convention here of the Western Canada Fuel Association.

THWARTED PLOT

Unethical Practices In Business Scored By Hon. H. H. Stevens

Radio To Be Discussed

Minister Of Marine Said To Be Dissatisfied With Present Act

Ottawa.—Radio will be one of the first subjects discussed with Premier R. B. Bennett by his colleagues on his return to Ottawa it was learned. Life of the bill under which the Canadian Radio Commission functions was extended before adjournment until June 1.

It is known Hon. Alfred Duran, minister of marine, whose department has general supervision over radio, is dissatisfied with the present act. The commission has at its disposal about $1,500,000 a year, derived out of receiving licenses. From this it must pay costs of administration, of programs and of leases, wireless, and has not enough left to provide high-powered stations on a scale comparable with the developments in the United States.

Proximity of the Dominion elections, however, may result in continuing the present act for the remainder of the year.

British Election Sighted

Rumor That Stanley Baldwin May Take Over Premiership

London.—Political quarters speculated on the possibility of a realignment of the cabinet. Prospects also were believed to indicate there might be a general election in the autumn.

The likelihood story circulating in the lobbies was that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and lord president of the council, would change places. Informed circles mentioned the Whitenside recess, which comes early in June, as the most suitable date for such a move.

Many government supporters believe an election in October would be more favorable to the government than one next spring or later in Canada, the southern states, Mexico, and into the Maritime provinces.

Famous Diamond

World's Largest Uncut Stone Given To United States

London.—The famous Jonker diamond, world's largest uncut stone, will go to the United States.

Its sale to Harry Winston, New York merchant, was announced by Ernest Oppenheimer, its former owner, profited $435,000 on the transaction.

Oppenheimer bought the stone from Jacobus Jonker, South African prospector who found it, for $350,000 in January of last year.

Conference Of Coal Dealers

Winnipeg.—Recommendation a conference of coal dealers to be called to consider means of saving and increasing the Canadian coal market was approved at the annual convention here of the Western Canada Fuel Association.

Currency Stabilization

Should Take Dollar Out Of Politics, Says Sir Josiah Stamp

Stanford University, Calif.—Great Britain will consider world stabilization of currency when it is definitely understood "the dollar is out of politics." Sir Josiah Stamp, director of the Bank of England, said in an address here.

"Great Britain is eager and willing to stabilize its currency," Sir Josiah said.

"Revival of foreign trade and prosperity of all countries depend upon an international agreement on stabilization. Great Britain is afraid to lead the way until it finds out the policy of the United States.

"We do not know how much political pressure will be brought on President Roosevelt and what effect it will have on the administration's monetary policy."

Rate Of Interest To Farmers Set By Loan Board At Five Per Cent.

Ottawa.—Rate of interest on loans extended by the farm loan board to Canadian farmers on first mortgages will be five per cent. Announcement was made by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance. The same rate will apply in each province. The maximum loan on a first mortgage will be $5,000.

Provision also had been made for second mortgages and the interest rate would probably be six per cent, it was announced. The board will have $80,000,000 available for loans.

Under amendments to the Farm Loan Act made this session, administration is entirely under control of the farm loan board appointed by the Dominion government.

At a meeting of this newly-organized board under the chairmanship of Major John Barnett, chief executive officer for the provinces were named. They were ratified by order in council.

Ottawa.—Every conceivable device is being brought into play by some of those who control "big business" to prevent the "ebb and flow of business from running smoothly." Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce, said in an address here. The culprits were actuated only by motives of greed, in order solely to secure selfish advantages over competitors. The conflict to-day in the business world was one of "organized selfishness against disunited virtue."

An "eminent authority" had said the other day that 90 per cent of the people were honest, said Mr. Stevens. He himself would not place the percentage so low. The point, however, was that while the great body of business men were conducting their affairs in an honorable way, yet in every business there were individuals, moved only by predatory instincts, who operated with a selfish disregard for all ethics. And, added, it had to be remembered that small percentage often comprised those who occupied a dominating position in various branches of industry.

Progress, he asserted, compelled constant revision of standards; and the possession of ethical standards was of no avail unless groups of men professing those ethics had the will to practice and enforce them. All things changed. The text-books of sociology and economics which served a generation ago were now out of date. So also were the industrial methods of a few years ago. Concepts of honesty were themselves subject to change.

Mr. Stevens was severely critical of those who regarded stock market operations as a barometer of business. Newspapers had headlined the activity of the New York exchange, fearing the rise in prices. He ventured to say these had been deliberately manipulated by gamblers, and when the "jambos" were encouraged to enter the speculation, they would find themselves duly fleeced.

Gift To Canada House

Portrait Of King Unveiled By Duke Of Kent

London.—In the presence of a large gathering of prominent persons the Duke of Kent presented a portrait of His Majesty presented to Canada House. The painting is a replica of the portrait presented by T. B. F. Davis of Jersey and Durban, South Africa, to Victoria college, Jersey, in memory of his son killed in the war. Similar replicas are being presented to the London headquarters of Australia and New Zealand and Durban University.

Slow Germination
Saskatoon.—Wheat, which under normal conditions usually shows above the ground in from 10 to 14 days, has taken 24 days on the plots of the University of Saskatchewan, owing to continued cool weather.

Clouded skies and cool temperatures have prevailed since the snow disappeared.

Miss Jean Batten, 25-year-old New Zealand airwoman, who has flown from Australia, is shown waving to the cheering crowd on her arrival at Croydon Airport. She is the first woman to have flown to and from Australia.

Chief executive officer will have control in his province of operation of the act and loans made under it. The board will be able to make loans in all provinces instead of, as formerly, only in provinces which passed necessary legislation. The loans will be confined to farmers—"a person who principally occupies consists of farming."

"Loans shall only be made," says a statement issued by the minister, "where the board can hold security by way of first mortgages on farm lands. These loans cannot exceed 50 per cent of the actual value of the land and the buildings thereon, as appraised by the board, and the maximum loan on this basis shall be $5,000."

The announcement sets out the various uses the proceeds of the loan might be put to, such as buying implements, livestock, and improving the farm generally.

Advertising in The Journal is a Splendid Business Builder

Softball Season

FIRST QUALITY BATS at $1.50
TOURNAMENT BALLS $1.00 and $1.75

Tennis Racquets, Tennis Balls, Golf Balls

We Now Handle

Chicago Herald Examiner

Sunday Paper

H. C. McBURNEY

Druggist and Stationer Main Street, Coleman

For a complete line of Miner's Supplies

— see —

Pattinson's Hardware Store

Water bottles, either tin or copper in every conceivable style. Lunch kits, thermos bottles, mine caps, mine gloves, mine belts.

Flash lights, hob nails, and half soles. Mine axes and four foot mine saws.

PATTINSON'S—The Miners' Friend"

NEW CURTAINS AND DRAPEs

give a new appearance to your home and are now on sale at from

20c to 95c per yard for Curtain

Numerous Patterns in Drapes, from per yard..... 50c to $2.25

CHARLES NICHOLAS

"The Family Clothier" Main Street, Coleman

General Electric

Refrigerators

$165 to $245

on deferred payment plan—pay as you use. Ask for pamphlet giving complete information on this splendid household requisite.

General Electric Washing Machines from $89.50

Models may be seen at our showrooms

Sentinel Motors

Phone 21 A. M. Morrison, Coleman

The Most Health-Giving Item in the Family's Daily Menu

IS MOTHER'S BREAD fresh from the up-to-date plant of Bellevue Bakery. There is none to equal it.

Bellevue Bakery

Phone 74w, Bellevue J. Shields, Local Dealer

Advertising....

to attract the eye and compel attention must have distinction. Drab monotony of appearance kill interest.

Only by using typographical display can you get maximum advertising value. It is easy to read and creates a good impression.

COLEMAN JOURNAL
H. T. Halliwell - Publisher.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Shirley Wilton of Pincher Creek, was the guest of Lorraine Rippon over the weekend.

A tea and pantry table, sponsored by the Catholic Ladies Aid, will be held at the home of Mrs. J. A. McDonald on Saturday, June 1, at 3 to 6 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barbour and Mr. and Mrs. A. Beck of Star Creek ranch returned this week from several months visit to Pacific coast cities, extending as far south as San Francisco and Mexico.

Prompt service on vulcanizing tires and putting new rollers on wringing machines will be given by Scott's Tire Shop, at Macleod, who carry an advertisement in this issue. First-class work is guaranteed.

Jimmy Allan, jr. won second prize for model airplanes and was given a free ride as a reward by the Pass Aero Club at Lee Lake on Sunday. Nothing will satisfy him now except the real thing in airplanes.

The dastardly work of putting out poison has been the cause of the death of several dogs and cats during the past two weeks. It's a cowardly way of taking it out on dumb animals, and is a punishable offence.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Tony Nicholas, who was killed at Lundbreck Falls on May 26, 1928.

Dear Tony, you are not forgotten. Though on earth you are no more; Still in memory you are with us, As you always were before.

Sadly missed by his loving parents, brother and sisters.

Mr. Melville Anderson, of Anderson & McLean, sight specialists, Calgary, announced his next visit to G. R. Powell's Coleman on Tuesday, May 30, 1935

20 years' experience and regular visits assure you of satisfaction in all optical work.

ALABASTINE

MIXES
QUICKLY
WITH
COOL WATER

The product that is advertised in The Journal is worthy of your confidence.

Catholic Ladies Aid
will hold a
TEA
and
PANTRY TABLE

at the home of
Mrs. J. A. McDonald
on

SAT., JUNE 1
from 3 to 6 p.m.

THE SIGN OF A FAIR DEAL

THE Three Star Imperial oval sign marks a place where you can buy with confidence; where you can be sure of good value and full measure.

It is the symbol of an organization that has steadily improved the quality and consistently reduced the price of petroleum and petroleum products—for gasoline prices today are lower than ever before.

The Three Star Imperial oval sign stands for a fair deal to all: to you, the consumer, and to the labor engaged in making and marketing Imperial products. The thousands of Imperial Oil workers are well treated. Five thousand of them are part owners of the Company. They are paid good wages. They have sickness and death benefits and old age pensions which mean that in affliction or old age they and their families do not become dependent on funds which must be raised by taxation.

Because they are fairly treated, Imperial Oil employees work loyally, enthusiastically and enterprisingly. That is why, through the years, it has been possible steadily to improve the quality and consistently to lower the price of Imperial gasoline and oils.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

SPECIALS IN Permanents

Fully Guaranteed
Steam Oil Wave
End Curl - $4.00
Croquinkle $5.00
Combination $6.00

Including Shampoo and Finger Wave
Phone 42 for Appointments

Graham's
BEAUTY PARLOR
Coleman, Alberta

Catholic Ladies Aid

will hold a

TEA
and
PANTRY TABLE

at the home of
Mrs. J. A. McDonald
on

SAT., JUNE 1
from 3 to 6 p.m.

Coleman Hotel

JOE LIPOVSKI Manager

A comfortable stopping place with complete service.

New furnishings in bedrooms. Rates moderate, by day, week or month.

Recently installed is a New Improved Frigidaire for improved service to our patrons.

Restaurant in connection with hotel serves high-class meals at reasonable rates.

TELL YOUR FRIENDS TO STOP AT THE

Coleman Hotel

PAINT

NOW is the time for outside painting. We carry a complete line of paint, at per gallon

$2.95 and $4.50

Lawn Fence—Garden Hose—Combination Screen Doors

Coleman Hardware Co.

W. DUTIL, Mgr.

Phone 68

Who was the young lady who sent out invitations to a party at the "hall of flame?" The Journal employs workers who live in Coleman, who pay taxes in Coleman, who do business in Coleman, whose interests are in Coleman, who do their part in the upbuilding of

L. C. SMITH TYPEWRITER—a splendid buy for $35.—Journal Office.